People being too rough at lunch time/play time

Toilet monitors are not doing their job properly and being responsible. They are being silly and getting in people's faces. People are getting annoyed with them.

Lunch time monitors are acting like they are the teachers and they aren't following the rules. They are putting people out without talking to a grown up and without giving them three chances first. They are also giving friends more chances.

Who is allowed to be off their seat in the hall?

Has anyone got any ideas for menu meals to add to our menus. Something you would like to see on the menu.

Is it time to change the shed monitors?

Remember that toilets before and after lunch. Have a try and make sure you wash your hands when you come in. Especially if you have been in the muddy hole.
